Sproul penned in his commentary;

God is before all things and above all things. In His being He is perfect. Nothing is lacking. He is filled with a countless multitude of excellencies. That is why the angels in heaven never tire of singing doxology to Him. That is why the people of God should never be bored in bringing Him the sacrifice of prayer and praise. His is a singular greatness that transcends all lesser things, even those things that impress us so deeply about this world. They are all like grass, which fades away. The One who has the power of being in Himself has, with that same power, the ability to speak worlds into existence. He said, "Let there be light," and there was light (Gen.1:3). That was not magic. It was the light that comes out of the very being of an eternal, immutable, omnipotent God.

Not God's plan for my life
But my life for God's plan
Not God's vision for our church
But our church for God's Vision

Scripture of the Month: 1st Peter 4:11

whoever speaks, as one who speaks oracles of God; whoever serves, as one who serves by the strength that God supplies—in order that in everything God may be glorified through Jesus Christ. To him belong glory and dominion forever and ever. Amen.
